THRASSUK Teaching Videos on YouTube

The THRASSUK teaching videos help children and adults (as individuals, or in pairs, groups or classes) to better understand the sounds, spellings (keyspellings and non-keyspellings), syllables, consonant blends and rhymes in English words. For pupils/students, student teachers, teachers and parents, these videos are a great way to learn or revise the building blocks of English words. https://www.youtube.com/user/THRASSUK

- Assessing the Learning -

At anytime, a child or adult can be assessed on what they have learnt - simply by using the Mute button!

Here are three example assessments:

ESC VIDEO 2. 120 KEYWORDS. A child or adult can be asked to read aloud the keyword (e.g. "bird") and/or the descriptions (e.g. "A bird is an animal with wings and feathers that flies."). The reading can be as individuals, or in pairs, groups or classes.

ESC VIDEO 4. KEYWORD SOUNDS. This involves "blending the sounds together to read a word". Again, the blending can be as individuals, or in pairs, groups or classes.

WHERE'S THE SOUND? SOUND 1. On the English Spelling Chart (available as a handy two-sided A5 and A4 deskchart and a one-sided A1 and A0 wallchart), 15 of the 120 keywords contain Sound Number 1 (the sound heard at the beginning of "bird"). These 15 keywords are shown in row order, starting with 'bird' and ending with 'bus'. Where exactly is the sound in these keywords in relation to the syllables, consonant blends and rhymes? Individuals, pairs, groups or classes can say aloud (chorus) the location of the chosen sound before they see the answer on the screen (be it on a mobile phone, tablet, computer or large digital screen).

- More Time to Say the Words, Names and/or Sounds -

Pause the video to study the information on the screen, or to give an individual, group or class more time to say the words, names and/or sounds on the soundtrack, or to give more time for answers! Obviously, as the screen content and the soundtracks become more familiar, there is less need to pause any of the videos.

English Sounds Code. The 44 Sound Numbers

To learn the English sound numbers, ask learners to watch and listen to all the English Sounds Code videos. ESC VIDEOS 2-4 focus on the sounds and spellings. Ask them to practise repeating each soundtrack until, speaking very clearly, they can say the words, names and/or sounds without hearing the soundtrack – and, by then, they'll be sure to know the English sounds and their numbers! The "Where's the sound?" videos focus on the syllables, consonant blends and rhymes. By looking at and discussing the answers, learners will have a better understanding of the exact location of a particular sound in a syllable, consonant blend and/or rhyme.

- Syllables and Hand Claps -

Each syllable has 1 vowel sound/spelling. A monosyllable has 1 vowel sound/spelling (1 clap). A polysyllable has 2 or more vowel sounds/spellings (claps). 'Bird' is a "mono". 'Ki-tten' is a "poly2". 'Ba-na-na' is a "poly3". Each consonant blend has 2 or 3 consonant sounds/spellings. The rhyme is the vowel and any (following) consonant sounds/spellings in each syllable.

— Subject or Topic Tests — The code can be used to create subject or topic tests in schools, colleges and universities. The tests can be created by the pupils/students and/or the teachers/lecturers. The tests can assess existing or new knowledge for the sound/s of particular spellings, rhymes, syllables and words.

Exchanging Coded Messages Using Paper or Mobile Phones

Older children and adults can even use the sound-numbers to exchange coded messages using paper or mobile phones. The coding and decoding of words is fun and engaging and helps them to become much more familiar with the numbers and the 44 English sounds that they represent (and, of course, any alternative 1-, 2-, 3- and 4-letter spellings for the same sound).

- New Words -

The main purpose of the code is to help learners (children and adults) determine the sound or sounds that they hear in a consonant blend, rhyme or syllable, when they first come across a new word and don't know how to pronounce (read) and/or spell part (or all) of it!

- Spelling (Visualising/Picturing) New Words -

Say-Name-Cover-Write/Type-Check. Ask learners to 'Say the word and name the letters' (stressing any 'Best Letters' – the ones that need particular attention) until they can name all the letters without hesitation. Ask them to form in the air (trace over or write) and name the letters over which they hesitate (ideally, they should visualise/picture these particular letters in bold). They should then cover and write the word (using a pen, pencil or stylus – or they can type it using a keypad/keyboard) and check the letters.

— Modern Font —

The resources use a modern font (Google Quicksand) designed for display purposes but kept legible enough to use in small sizes, such as on mobiles. The letters can be easily associated with those used in other styles.
